LETTER OF REFERENCE FOR JACQUELINE [JAYA] LEWIS

To whom it might concern

Dear Sir/Madam,

I have had the pleasure of working with Ms. Jacqueline Lewis for about two years, whilst employed at the Institute of Applied Technology in Al Ain, UAE.

Jacqueline has been firstly employed as a Creative Media Teacher and then, in the second year, she also undertook Creative Design.

As a colleague she has always been helpful, collaborative and often went out of her way to help other peer teachers, as well as students. Jacqueline and I, in fact, have spent some time training each other on various Adobe programs and applications, which were requested from our institute.

As a teacher, she is assertive but also very giving: she would go out of her way to help those students with potential, supervising them and helping them get on with their work even out of school time. Ms. Lewis has also a finely developed personal moral: she would stand up for a cause, if she truly supports it.

To conclude, I would like to say that, technically, Ms. Jacqueline is not only an excellent producer and filmmaker, but also a refined singer and actress; as far as I am concerned, she keeps her skills up to date by being involved in many different projects that involve singing, acting or producing short films. She is a truly creative person, and for this reason I would recommend her for any position that requires an innovating and independent mind.

Yours faithfully,

Sarah Laura Nesti Willard
